Notices

Sunday services: Please note— we are about to have 3 Sundays in a row with live services at Dawlish College— breaking our usual pattern!

20th February (Live Service): The last in our series, 'More people, more like Jesus, in more places'. We're thinking about the question: 'how can Jesus' kingdom come'. We'll have a guest speaker; Chris Clewer.

27th February (Live Service): This will be an extended open gathering of Worship, sharing and prayer as we work through some of the challenging we are facing (please see the letter from the SLT that was sent out with last week's notices for more information). Maki Miço will also be brining us a message on repenting before lent.

3rd March (Live Service): In the lead up to Easter, we are starting a new series; 'Hope is Coming'. The first part is called 'Hope in the gospel'.

The service that took place on 6th February has now been uploaded on to YouTube (and our website). Sorry about the delay.

Lent devotional from Tearfund: There is a free devotional that can either be emailed to you daily, or ordered via a booklet (while stocks last) from Tearfund. The theme is unity. They are bite-sized daily reflections, prayers and poems to help you draw nearer to God as we approach Easter. Because the theme is unity, the leadership thought it would be great if we did this as a church family. You can order your booklet, or sign up for your download here:

Talk/Quiz-by Sue Errington about Fairtrade coffee, the Twongerekawa Co-op, a women's Fairtrade organic coffee co-operative in Rwanda and the challenge to them of climate change.

This is an update re the morning of Saturday 5th March.

Clive and Anthea have kindly agreed to host this at their house.

This is open to all

The time will be for three hours from 9.30am to 12.30

Please feel free to join for as long as able – it would be good if as many as possible could come for at least part of the time

The morning will be split into 3 one hour sessions with a different leader for each section.

Please do ring me if you have any questions.

With kind regards and every blessing, Wend

These 'bags of hope' are being made by Sue to raise money for the build, and to use the church logo to spark conversations. They cost £3 each and can be ordered from Sue. Thank you.

Cecilia will be on annual leave during half term (week beginning February 21st) so there will be a delay in answering any emails sent to the office.
